[illegible] THE STATE

MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 7, 1865

The Wrecked Steamer

The news of [illegible] wishes from the wreck of steamer [illegible] dispels almost the last ray of hope of the safety of any of her passengers and crew, except the very few whose names are already reported. The probability that no others escaped except those who came over in the single boat [illegible] borders on absolute certainty. On Saturday night the stage from Crescent City to Jacksonville reached the latter place but it brought no word of any kind concerning the disaster. The presumption is that we know almost all about the catastrophe that we shall ever learn. The details will reach us, but is scarcely within the range of a very remote possibility that we shall ever hear anything that can render this unspeakable calamity less mournful and less appalling than it appeared on the occasion of its first announcement.

When a disaster like this occurs, involving the destruction of almost a multitude of priceless lives, the whole community cannot choose but be profoundly affected by the suddenness and magnitude of the loss. Perhaps many who went down on the wreck will be seen or heard of never more until the sea shall give up its dead. In the memory of the present generation many of them cannot be forgotten and even beyond the limits of time the fruits of the lives they passed here will grow

In His full beauty and ripen for the just,
Where momentary ages are no more.

Of those thus swallowed up by the sea whom their "fatal and perfidious bark" threw them helpless upon the bosom of the deep the world must long feel the loss. They can illy be spared from the places from which they have been taken, and which, in the case of most, it will be impossible for others to fill.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.—Not the least strange of all the stubborn opinions of that class of men who, if they can prevent it, are determined that slavery shall never be abolished, is the notion that the Constitutional Amendment is a measure which three fourths of the States, acting in a perfectly legitimate manner as provided by our fundamental law, have no right to pass upon. This view is the ground on which the Amendment is opposed in those States where the matter is now before the people for their immediate action. In Oregon, when the issue comes to be made, opposition to this Amendment will, no doubt, be based on the same untenable theory, and supported by the same pointless arguments. The proposition to abolish slavery by a vote of three fourths of the States, is objected to as being an unwarrantable interference on the part of the Federal Government with an institution which is entirely local in its character, and over which the States alone have the right to exercise control. To construe the proposed Amendment in this manner is to wilfully misinterpret a public measure, which is as clearly defined as to its scope, meaning and intendment as a thing can possibly be. It is not a law enacted by Congress in the same way in which a general statute is passed, but it is a measure proposed unto the several States in a Constitutional manner, for their adoption or rejection, and they are to pass upon it, as many have already done, without Federal interference, and without any sort of compulsion or restraint.

When the Constitution was adopted the existence of slavery was not only recognized in that instrument, but several clauses were inserted which have especial reference to the institution. If slavery could thus be made the subject of action so as to be provided for in our fundamental law, there exists no valid reason why it may not on the other hand, be excluded from a place in the instrument. If it could be rightly acted upon one way, it can also be in the other. The only condition or restriction as to its expunction from the Constitution is that it be done in the manner provided by law.

Early in 1861, when the clouds of war had already begun to throw their shadow over the land, it was proposed by the venerable Crittenden then in Congress, to quiet the pretended apprehensions of extreme Southern men by adopting as a part of the National Constitution, a series of Amendments which should guarantee the institution of slavery where it then existed, and also wherever the people of any State thereafter admitted should choose to have it. The passage of these Amendments by Congress and their adoption by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the States, would have made them a part of the supreme law of the land. The praters about "Federal interference" in the case of the Amendment now proposed, did not then have any thought that it would not be perfectly proper to adopt the Crittenden plan. Yet had it been done, such action would clearly have been equally as objectional as regards "Federal interference," as the adoption of the Amendment abolishing slavery, would be at the present time. In other words, if the adoption of a constitutional Amendment by three fourths of the States, intended to prohibit slavery for the future, be wrong, then an Amendment of an opposite character, intended to guarantee its continuance and preservation, would be obnoxious to the same objection. The truth is, either could have legally been done. Had the Crittenden Amendments passed they would have been valid, if the Amendment now before the people of the several States be carried, it will rightfully become a part of our fundamental law.

We have noticed this matter because they who oppose the Constitutional Amendment in other States, base their objections to it on the reasons we have spoken of, and because it may easily be foreseen that it will be opposed in Oregon on the same ground. Indeed, this spirit of opposition arising pretendedly from the considerations we have touched upon, is exerting itself here already. By repeated assertions and continued iterations of a false doctrine, men fortify themselves impregnably behind the walls of error, whereas if their pretentious arguments are, at the first, shown to be unsound, they may be opposed much more successfully than if they be permitted to pass uncontradicted and without confutation until they have gained a firm hold in the public mind.

FORM OF PARDON.—The following is a copy of the pardons given out by the President to rebels seeking and being deemed worthy of the same.

Whereas —— by taking part in the late rebellion against the Government of the United States has made himself liable to heavy pains and penalties, and whereas the circumstances of his case render him a proper object of Executive clemency. Now therefore, be it known that I, Andrew Johnson, President, do hereby grant to the said ——, a full pardon and amnesty for all offenses by him committed, arising from participation, direct or implied, in the said rebellion conditioned as follows viz: This pardon to begin and take effect from the day on which the said —— shall take the oath prescribed in the Proclamation of the President, dated May 29, 1865, and to be void and of no effect if the said —— shall hereafter at any time acquire any property whatever in slaves or make use of slave labor.

The concluding clause may account in some degree for the readiness with which applicants for pardon proclaim themselves in favor of emancipation. It may also give us an inkling of the reason why those of the North who try to warm slavery into life, oppose all proclamations and forms of pardon that have been issued by the Executive for a long time past.

The steamer [illegible] and the schooner Milton Badge having Col. Bulkley and the Russian Telegraph party on board sailed north from Victoria on the 30th of July.

Boise and Owyhee

IDAHO CITY, July 28th 1865.

I remained several days at the Overland Hotel in Boise City endeavoring to recruit up and prepare myself for another tour in the mountains. Our friend Cram makes the comfortable there and is popular with the public in his capacity of landlord and general stage agent.

Boise City is the great center of travel, and has a growing [illegible]. Five stage lines diverge at this point. There is a daily line to Idaho City owned by Messrs. [illegible] to the Columbia river and [illegible] Thomas & Co. and John C. Haley, which runs through in three days alternately to Umatilla and Walla Walla. There are tri-weekly stage lines running to Salt Lake [illegible] by Ben Holliday Esq., to South Boise owned by William McWhirk, Esq., and to Owyhee owned by Leach & Co. These lines are all well stocked and good time is made by them.

There are pleasant drives around Boise City and of an evening when the sun has lost his fierceness, and the air becomes cool and pleasant, buggies start out from their hiding places, with [illegible] unattached and go whirling around much to the delight of the young gent who drives and the lady for whom the turn out is driven. Gay couples on horseback go forth with a canter to make love at a gallop—that is the [illegible] makes love to the gal—and on the other horse. Boise City has a promising future before it. I recommend that the denizens of the burgh either set out the native born aspens, or import other forest trees to live and shade their walks and make them classic groves for ages yet to come. They can have the water of Boise river running through each street to encourage their growth, and soon the shady avenues would grow to be the pride of Idaho.

Speaking of stage lines reminds me that I owe a first rate notice to the Chico route, more particularly since you are all giving it a great prominence down below, and are charging the dull times so general this summer all to Chico, supposing that the travel and freight bound for Idaho are rushing at a fearful rate through the streets of that city. In the first place, times are as dull in Idaho as they are out of it. The general prevailing cry is "hard times," and even here in Idaho City, where the life and business of the upper country culminates in bustle and activity, where hotels are crowded, saloons glisten, places of amusement numerous, brick buildings going up and they have an occasional man for breakfast or lunch, where faro and monte manage to thrive, and men smile more frequently than elsewhere—even here the cry of dull times is heard, and Potter for want of appreciation and remunerative dollars has taken the high tragedy and low comedy under his paternal care to prospect awhile at Boise City and perhaps Owyhee, preparatory to emigrating to the City of the Saints, and astonishing Brigham and his not silent partners, with the display of a high-gentile tragedy artiste in the person of Mrs Julia Dean Hayne. Now, here in the Boise Basin people have very little actual knowledge of the Chico route, except as they heard rumors of it last spring, and have lately read about it in the OREGONIAN.

They say "it is a played out humbug," but that is not the case, the route is a good one enough. I have seen heavily loaded teams come over it, and heard it declared perfectly good. So I expect that the fact is established that it is a good route, and will be, to some extent, traveled, and when improved by the expenditure of pick and shovel engineering, and the Indians all sent to their father, the devil, I am of the opinion that California enterprise will stock the road and set stages to running upon it, and that those stages will carry passengers, and mails, too, but while I don't detract in any respect from the claims of Chico, I shall also award them every mile of road they have a legal title to, and that is several hundred more than they are anxious to lay claim to. Their first endeavor to lay a road through Surprise Valley failed, and succeeded only in [illegible] people around the wilderness with no guide or conductor—very much as the children of Israel used to promenade around under the care of Moses and Aaron, expiating any amount of sins by going hungry without manna, and losing their way without a pillar of cloud or of fire to lead them purposely astray. I am inclined to think that most of them deserved hard treatment for swearing so at that brace of Innocents, Messrs. Price and Francis, who exhausted the powers of oratory and the science of declamation in running down the Columbia river route, and lying about the way by Chico. They furnished the native talent of brass, and Maj. Bidwell and other Chicovians, furnished a little cash and many mustangs for their talent to develop, just as you have said.

During my stay in Owyhee, weekly trains arrived from Chico averaging 5 or 6 persons. Some few teams came through, bringing a quartz mill and a large lot of flour belonging to Maj. Bidwell, and which was stored last winter at Susanville, one hundred miles east of Chico. The freight so far brought through illustrates that the thing can be done and indicates plainly that it can't be made to pay. Very little, if any more, is on the road, and the travel is insignificant. It will amount to nothing this year and can never compete for any trade east of Owyhee and I think will not stand more than even hand at that. Freight is now on the way to Ruby City at 7½ cts per lb from Umatilla, which amounts to less than 10 cts. through from San Francisco. Now, about distance. Most of those I have seen call it five hundred miles from Chico to Owyhee, or, rather, to Ruby City, against three hundred and sixty five miles claimed by the veracious Pierce and Francis, while I am disposed to think the trip can be made in four hundred and fifty miles, and no less, as the road as traveled bends down to meet the Humboldt road, causing a great detour, but thereby securing a good road. Now I pronounce as my opinion, not hastily arrived at, that nine-tenths of the Idaho freight will come by way of the Columbia river, as the cheapest and most expeditious route. The travel will be more evenly divided, as many will ride their own horses by way of Chico or Humboldt, for the great travel of last spring was by Humboldt and not Chico. The Humboldt road is and will continue to be a preferable route to that by Chico. The different approaches to Idaho will sustain their respective stage lines, but as the distance of land travel is only about half from Boise City to the Columbia that it is to either Chico or Sacramento by way of Virginia City, those who come by way of the Columbia river can come here as quickly and cheaply as they can by other overland route. So I pray you keep up courage, and don't imagine that Chico is ruining Oregon. You see the thing can't be done.

I believe in the live and let live idea. Oregon needs but the display of enterprise to command trade and travel and the Chicovians may thrive some too. Believe me the trade and travel they have had so far won't hurt them or us. There is a great travel, bound to always be, between Idaho and Nevada, and it ought to be secured by protection from Indians. I regret to see Hill Beachy and my friends of the Humboldt Express standing idle after suffering serious loss, the result of enterprise that deserved success. I think they are as prosperous as the "Chico line" is thought for all that, only that they had an advantage or disadvantage in having nothing to lose.

The present excitement here concerns the killing of Pinkham in cowardly cold blood by Patterson. The former had many friends, and the news of his death was received with universal sorrow. His funeral was the most imposing ceremony ever seen in the territory. A special Grand Jury is summoned and Patterson will be tried immediately.

ENGLISH MAGNANIMITY.—The British press seems to be unable to recover from the severe attack of "magnanimity" which broke out so alarmingly among its members the moment they heard that their Confederate bantam had been stripped of all its plumes. One might reasonably suppose that time would in some degree alleviate their distresses or that a gradual abatement of their sorrows would deaden their sensibility to pain, but such appears not to be the case. They mourn as lugubriously as ever over the fate of their fallen friends of the slave Confederacy and raise their voices to a deprecative shriek when begging for their exculpation and pardon.

These persons have not always been afflicted in this manner. They have been in this state of morbid magnanimity but a few months. Mercy and compassion are qualities naturally altogether foreign to their natures and are assumed for the nonce. An article in the London Star, which we find in an exchange, tells some of them what they have been and what they have said in other times.

"There are some people unable to have anything to say on any question of mercy or magnanimity. The Times newspaper bawled out lustily for the putting of the First Napoleon to death. It said that caging him for life was no sufficient security, that our own safety could never be insured if he were alive. I hear that this paper has now been making an ugly turn against the ex President. This is characteristic in its practice. In abandoning the cause of those of those who come to misfortune it commonly helps the weight of the fall by a back handed blow from its own fist. The Standard, in January of 1835, pointedly recommended the assassination of Mr. O'Connell. Such an act [illegible] declared, would not be without [illegible] the 94th Psalm. Lord God to whom vengeance belongeth [illegible] at thy thunders sleep, is there no other agency for thy justice?"

THE FIRE IN THE WOODS. —The fire in the woods about this city continues in its ravages. The flames on the West have spread rapidly, and by night appear fearfully grand. During the past three days considerable property has been [illegible] [illegible] houses and a quantity of wood [illegible] for the market. The fire yesterday [illegible] as far as the line of Alder street [illegible] are [illegible] with fearful rapidity, and in falling to the ground sent upward a whirling mass of fire and smoke for several hundred feet, exciting painful admiration.

ROW IN CHINA. —The Hong Kong Division of Portland, being that portion principally on Alder street between First and Second streets, was the scene of a terrific row about the hour for Church service last evening. At least two hundred of the moon-eyed scamps were congregated at the place, and the most able linguist would be unable to define the sounds and chattering utterances of the throng. We were unable to learn what had occasioned the muss, but seeing officer Blake drive one of the long-cued participants to the calaboose suppose the matter will be investigated before Recorder Hoffman this morning.

THE CITY PLAZA. —The grass of the city plaza is in need of cutting. Unless the weeds are cut out it will be uncertain to decide the character of the next crop. The fence also begins to wear the appearance of raggedness for the want of an additional coat of paint. The grounds are well worthy of care, promising to be the finest property owned by the city. When the new Court House, which is now assuming the proportions of a handsome building, is completed the plaza will be the center of attraction to promenaders, and those who have a leisure hour in the evening.

DEATH BY DROWNING. —John O'Brien, a lad aged about eight years, son of Mrs. O'Brien living on Taylor street in this city, was found dead, under the Alder street wharf yesterday. He had been missing from home since Monday last. The last heard of him was on that day, when he was at the dock under the What Cheer House with some other boys fishing. The body was in a very bad state, having remained in the water at least six days. During his absence search was made every day.

RESTORED. —Mr. N. Pearcy, of Sauvie's Island, called on us last Saturday and showed us his left arm in a condition fit for use, it having been restored to him after the accident of the 13th of December last, by which it was frightfully shattered by the explosion of a gun barrel. Twenty-six shot and several particles of the gun were extracted, the last two shot being taken out on Saturday. He feels particularly indebted to Messrs. Chapman & Watkins, to whose skill as surgeons he attributes the saving of the arm.

PULLING SNAGS. —The O. S. N. Company's steamer Cascade, Capt. Wolfe, was engaged in pulling snags at the mouth of the Willamette river on Saturday. Four large ones were taken out of the channel, two from the upper mouth of the Willamette and two from the Columbia, a short distance below the mouth of this river. There are others that require to be taken out, but they could not be moved on Saturday by the Cascade.

DEPARTURE OF THE BARK CAMBRIDGE. —The bark Cambridge leaves Oak Point in tow of the steamer John H. Couch to-day, under command of Capt. Stannard, and will stop at the scene of the late disaster, where Capt. Brooks will leave her, to look for the remains of his wife and children.

THE NEW WORLD. —This fine steamer will to-day take the place of the [illegible] in the trade of the O. S. N. Company between this city and the [illegible]. Now is a fine time for those who can leave the city but for one day to take a run to the famous fishing falls, spoken of by Irving in Astoria—the "perpendicular" falls of Fitz Hugh Ludlow.

FOR THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS. —The following is the manifest of cargo by the bark Cambridge leaving to-day for the Hawaiian Islands: 180,000 feet lumber, $2,300; 800 bbls Salmon, $2,900; 150,000 shingles $400; 3,000 shocks $375; 214 kegs shooks-heads $106; 12 sacks venison 150. Total valuation $6,736.

A NUISANCE. —Main street, at the crossing of Front street, is a decided nuisance, as it is now situated. There stands a pool of green scum, running from a Celestial's wash house, which has a stench repugnant to the hogs. A man who can stand it one year would live ten years in the most filthy part of China.

LEE AND RYLAND'S CIRCUS. —By reference to the advertisement of this Circus Company it will be seen that they are expected to arrive to-day, and will perform on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. From all our exchanges, where this Company has performed, we receive favorable accounts of their exhibitions, and they are recommended to the public as worthy of liberal patronage.

FISHING EXCURSION. —The steamer Rabboni, Captain Corno, left this city at five o'clock Saturday evening, with a company on board for an excursion to the places of interest on the sea coast, and along the Columbia river. She will take the party out over the Bar, and return to Astoria, that they may take the steamer John H. Couch for Portland on Tuesday morning.

INSANE. —Passengers from the upper country on Friday last speak in terms of high commendation of the course pursued by Mr. Sper[illegible] of Walla Walla, who had in charge an insane woman. Mr. Phillip Schruble committed to the Vancouver Asylum by Judge J. H. Blewett of Walla Walla county.

THE RACE ON SATURDAY. —The [illegible] at the Union course on Saturday was witnessed by a large number of people. We have no report of the final result. The first heat is said to have been a pretty race, won in 3 26. The second heat was won in 3 12. On Saturday next there will be another contest.

REAL ESTATE SALE. —The property disposed of by A. B. Richardson at auction on Saturday last, was purchased by H. Norton, at $1,155. It is composed of two lots, on one of which is a neat dwelling, seven blocks from Front street.

CORRECTION. —In one report of the Common Council proceedings on Saturday, we stated that the Committee on accounts reported adverse to allowing the claim of H. W. Davis, &c. The name should have been J. W. Davis.

[illegible] THERMOMETER. —Mr. David Swan, of the firm of Weeks & Swan, has left with us a handsome [illegible] of the Home Insurance Company, a [illegible] spirit thermometer.

THE STAGE. —The stage arrived quite late last night. We did not learn the cause of this unusual delay. It was past ten o'clock when it arrived.

PREPARING ANEW. —The Louisville Journal makes the somewhat startling statement that there is a programme generally understood by the secessionists for a renewal of the rebellion as soon as the Federal armies shall be disbanded. The Journal may be right; but if so we have only to say that when the time comes it will be the signal for the universal extermination of all the secessionists in the country, North and South.

REMARKABLE SUSPENSION OF ANIMATION. —A boy in England recently, to all appearance, died. He had eaten plentifully of rhubarb tart and shortly afterward was seized with great pain. Simple remedies were used, but without effect, and apparent death ensued. The father went to the coroner, who ordered a post mortem. A physician with his knives returned in company with the father, when they found the lad standing in the bar eating a boiled egg.

CANADA AND THE BRITISH NORTHWEST. —The London Morning Post of recent date announces that the negotiations between Canada and the mother country are now about to be brought to a [illegible] Canada is expected to undertake the whole of the western defences. The canal will probably be deepened for commercial and military purposes, and the province will engage to maintain at all times an efficient militia. The Imperial Government is understood to have agreed to furnish the necessary armament and material for the whole of the defensive works, and to guarantee a loan for the purpose of constructing the inter-Colonial Railroad—a very important part of the scheme of defence.

The Post has also reason to believe that the long pending negotiations on the Northwest territory have been concluded, by which a back country rich in variety of resources will be acquired by Canada. It is stated that for the future a better understanding is likely to exist between the colony and the mother country in regard to her commercial relations. In the course of a few days the nature of the arrangements concluded between the two governments would be fully stated in Parliament.

HAIR AND [illegible]. —Where Senator Mason's residence once stood not a stone is to be found to tell the beholder of its existence, and his wife, it is said, is now in Richmond taking in sewing for a subsistence. Yet Mr. Mason when the secession ordinance was first passed, told the citizens of Winchester that he now witnessed that which he had desired and prayed for during a period of twenty years.

DISASTROUS CONFLAGRATION. —A terrible fire occurred at Quebec on June 22d. One hundred and thirty houses were destroyed, involving a loss of over one million of dollars. Nearly five hundred families were rendered homeless, most of them losing everything.

TO NEUTRALIZE OFFENSIVENESS. —In many forms we use disinfecting agents. Impure breath caused by bad teeth, tobacco, spirits or catarrh is neutralized by SOZODONT. 'Tis a healthful beautifier, and a great luxury as a dentifrice. The repulsive breath is by its use rendered as fragrant as a rose, and coldness by friends or lovers will be no longer noticed.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

—OF—

HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY

HALF A CENTURY,

WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING

Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the

THROAT, LUNGS, AND CHEST,

INCLUDING EVEN

CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of the medicinal gum of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known; so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve and to cure disease exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these:—

The Assassination Trials

TESTIMONY OF SANFORD CONOVER.

WASHINGTON, June [illegible].—The Court met at 11 o'clock, when Judge Advocate General Holt recalled Sanford Conover, alias J. W. Wallace, as a witness for the Government, to whom Holt said he held in his hand a [illegible] stating the [illegible] in the case of the St. Albans [illegible] witness whether his evidence was therein truthfully reported. The witness said the testimony to which General Holt has referred was his, but associated with the name of another person named Wallace.

Q. Do you remember how many persons named Wallace gave testimony on that trial? A. There were three, so far as I know: Wm. Pope Wallace, J. Watson Wallace and J. Wallace. What were read from the book just now was the report of the Montreal Telegraph, printed from the type of that newspaper. The report which appeared in the Montreal Witness was correct. This read as follows:

James Watson Wallace said—I reside at present in this city, and have been here since October. I was formerly a resident of the Confederate States. I know James A. Seddon; he occupied the position of Secretary of War. I should say the signatures to the papers M, N and O are those of the said Seddon. I have on several occasions seen the signature of James A. Seddon, and have seen him on several occasions sign his name; he has signed documents in my presence, and handed them to me after signing. I never belonged to the Confederate army, but have seen many commissions issued by the Confederate Government; the commission of L. Young, marked M, is in the usual form; the army commissions are always signed by the Secretary of War. I have never seen a commission with the name of the President or with the seal of the Government; the Confederates, at the time I left the country, had no seal; one had been designed but not prepared.

The witness remarked the above was substantially what he did say. It was clipped entire from the Montreal Witness or the Herald.

Q.—State whether after you gave your testimony in this Court you visited Montreal? A.—I left here perhaps the same day.

Q.—Whom did you meet there of those spoken of as refugees? A.—I met Tucker, Carroll, Dr. Patton, ex-Gov. Westcott, George N. Sanders, Lewis Sanders, his son, and a number of others. I had a free conversation with some of them, especially with Tucker and Sanders.

Q.—What did Tucker say, so far as the purpose of those men were concerned? A.—They had not the slightest idea that I had testified before this Commission, and received me with great cordiality; the subject of this trial was generally discussed; Tucker, after denouncing Stanton and President Johnson as great scoundrels, spoke of Judge Holt as a bloodthirsty old villain; he said they must protect themselves by a guard at present—but, by the Eternal, a day of reckoning would come; then they would have a heavy account to settle. Sanders did not make such violent threats as Tucker did. William S. Cleary, whom he also met, made similar violent threats; he said Beale would have been pardoned by the President had it not been for Judge Holt; he also said blood should follow blood; he reminded me of what he has formerly remarked of President Lincoln—that retributive justice had come, and that the assassination of the President was the beginning of it.

Q.—After giving your testimony did you not go to Canada for me? A.—I did, to get a certified copy of the reports at Montreal; I met the conspirators; I had not been there long when they discovered that my testimony had been published; I received a message from Sanders, Tucker, Carroll and O'Donnell (a Virginian, sometimes called McDonnell).

Q.—The man who boasted of setting fire to houses in New York? A.—He so boasted. I went into a saloon to wait until the public offices were opened; while sitting there, in about ten minutes a dozen rebels surrounded me; they accused me of having betrayed their secrets, not knowing at the time that my testimony had been published; I denied it; they said if I would give them a letter to that effect it would be well; just as I was about to get away, Beverly Tucker came in; he said a mere letter would not do, because I had testified before the Court, therefore I must give some paper under oath to make my denial sufficiently strong; about a dozen of these men assailed me in a furious manner; O'Donnell took out a pistol and said that unless I did so I should never leave the room alive; at last Sanders said: "Wallace, you see what kind of hands you are in;" I at length consented; it was understood that I was to prepare the paper in my own way; I intended, however, not to prepare the paper, but to escape from them at the most convenient opportunity; they insisted they must go to O'Donnell's room, and I was forced to comply; Kerr, who defended the St. Alban raiders, was then sent for to prepare the paper; two of Morgan's men were there; a pistol was again drawn on me; Kerr came, the affidavit was prepared, and I signed it, and I went through the ceremony of an oath.

Q.—Did you know that Kerr had knowledge of these menaces? A.—It must have so appeared to him, as Tucker said if I did not sign the paper I should never leave the town alive, and they would follow me to hell.

Q.—Did that paper appear in the Telegraph, and afterwards copied in the New York World? A.—It did.

The paper was read. It appeared in the Montreal Evening Telegraph of June 10th, and it is to the effect that if President Johnson will send him (James W. Wallace's) a safe conduct to go to Washington and return to Montreal, he would proceed thither and go before the Military Court, in order that they may see whether he was the same Sandford Conover who swore as stated. This is dated June 8, 1865, and signed James W. Wallace. To this the affidavit before referred to is appended, viz:

I am the same James W. Wallace who gave evidence of the subject of St. Albans raid, which appears on paper 212 of the printed report of the case; I am a native of the county of Loudon, Virginia; I resided in Montreal in October; I have seen and examined the report of what is called the suppressed evidence before the Court-martial now being held in Washington on Mrs. Surratt, Payne and others, and I have looked carefully over the report of the evidence in the New York papers of a person calling himself Sandford Conover, who referred to the fact that while in Montreal he went by the name of James Watson Wallace, and gave evidence in the St. Albans raid investigation; that said Sanford Conover personated me before the said Court-martial at Washington City; that I never had knowledge of John Wilkes Booth excepting seeing him on the stage, and did not know he was in Montreal until I saw it published after the death of President Lincoln; that I was not a correspondent of the New York Tribune; that I never went under the name of Sandford Conover; that I never had any confidential communication with Geo. N. Sanders, Beverly Tucker, Jacob Thompson, General Carroll, of Tennessee, Dr. M. N. Patton, or any of the others therein mentioned; that my acquaintance with every one of those gentlemen was slight, and in fine, I have no hesitation in stating that the evidence of the said Sanford Conover, personating me, is false, untrue and unfounded in fact, and is from beginning to end a tissue of falsehoods. I have made this deposition voluntarily and in justice to my own character and name.

JAMES W. WALLACE.

This was sworn to before G. Smith, Justice of the Peace of Montreal, on June 8th. Alfred Perry certified that Wallace subscribed to the paper of his own free will, etc.

By Judge Holt—I understand this is the paper sworn and subscribed to by you under the circumstances which you have detailed with a pistol presented at your face; the statements in this paper are false. A.—Yes sir. I never heard of Alfred Perry, who said I swore to it voluntarily; the advertisement appended to the deposition, which is as follows, was also induced by the same threats:

"Four hundred dollars reward will be given for the arrest, so that I can bring to punishment in Canada, of the infamous and perjured scoundrel who recently personated me under the name of Sandford Conover and deposed to a tissue of falsehoods before the Military Commission at Washington.

JAMES W. WALLACE."

Q. You have stated that you were never in the Confederate army; what did you mean? A. I meant that I never served as a soldier; after I was conscripted I was detailed as a clerk in the rebel War Department.

Q.—By the Judge Advocate—Was any attempt made by those men to detain you in Canada? A.—I believe so, by friends of theirs; and I was relieved through the influence of General Dix.

TESTIMONY OF NATHAN AUSER.

Nathan Auser, of New York, was called for by the Government. He said he had known Sandford Conover for eight or ten years; his character for integrity is good; recently he accompanied Conover to Montreal and was present at the interview with Tucker and Sanders; after they went into O'Donnell's room Cameron came there with a paper containing an account of Conover's testimony; Conover had the paper shown to him but denied that he had so testified; he was told he must sign a writing to that effect, or he should not leave the room alive—they would shoot him like a dog; they all went into St. Lawrence Hall, but would not let the witness follow; there were twelve or fifteen persons in the party, including Sanders, Tucker, O'Donnell, Carroll, Patton and Cameron; the witness said he did not see any weapons on the persons.

TESTIMONY OF JOHN CANTLEY.

John Cantley, called for the Government, testified as follows: I reside at Selma (Ala.); was a printer in the office of the Selma Dispatch.

Judge Advocate—I will read the following, which purports to have been clipped from that newspaper, namely:

"A million dollars wanted to have peace by the first of March. If the citizens of the Southern Confederacy will furnish me with the cash, or good securities for the sum of one million dollars, I will cause the lives of Abraham Lincoln, William H. Seward and Andrew Johnson to be taken by the 1st of March next. This will give us peace, and satisfy the world that cruel tyrants cannot live in a land of liberty. If this is not accomplished nothing will be claimed beyond the sum of fifty thousand dollars in advance, which is supposed to be necessary to reach and slaughter the three villains. I will give myself one thousand dollars towards the patriotic purpose. Every one willing to contribute will address X, Cahawba, Alabama."

Q. Will you state whether the advertisement was published in the Selma Dispatch in December 1864? A. As far as I recollect it was; I worked and was published four or five times. I saw the manuscript, which was in the handwriting of G. W. Gale of Cahawba, Ala.; his name was signed at the bottom of the sheet, merely to indicate the author and who was responsible for it; the Dispatch had a circulation of eight hundred copies, and exchanged with the Richmond papers. Gale is a lawyer of considerable reputation and is distinguished for his extreme views on the subject of slavery. I never saw Gale before I started.

Wilkins H. Graves, also a printer, who had been employed in the Selma Dispatch office, remembered to have seen the advertisement signed X; it was in the handwriting of Gale, which he had seen frequently.

RE-EXAMINATION OF DR. MERRITT.

Dr. Merritt was recalled for the Government with reference to a statement made by Hutchinson that he overheard a conversation on the second day of June. The doctor said that on that day he saw General Carroll at St. Lawrence Hall and introduced himself as Dr. Merrill, of Memphis, as there was a large family of that name at Memphis, from which vicinity General Carroll came; he expressed to the witness great gratification at meeting him. General Carroll introduced him to Tucker and others as Dr. Merritt. On Tuesday, the 6th of June, the testimony was published in Canada, when Tucker said they were perfectly posted as to everything on this trial, and Tucker said they had burned the papers from the Confederate Government for fear some Yankee would steal them for evidence. Ex-Governor Westcott was present during the interview; he did not hear the latter utter any disloyal sentiments, although it might be inferred he was playing into his friends' hands.

By General Wallace—By whom were they being posted? A.—He said we have friends in Court, who I don't know. I did not take it for granted it was any member of the Court. [Laughter.]

General Wallace—I only wanted to know.

Judge Advocate General Holt said the Government was now through with its testimony.

How Grant took Vicksburg

A Springfield (Illinois) correspondent of the Chicago Republican gives the following interesting chapter of past history:

In the Republican of June 2d was published an editorial article with an extract headed "A Scrap of History," and which gives an account of General Sherman's written protest against General Grant's circuitous march around Vicksburg, and by which he cut himself off from his base of supplies; describes how General Sherman directed that the protest be forwarded to Washington; how General Grant never did so forward it, but afterwards, when Vicksburg was about to surrender, tore it up in General Sherman's presence, much to the satisfaction of the latter.

I have no doubt of the truth of the story, as it perfectly tallies with an account (which I have often heard related by parties who were present) of the way in which General Grant is said to have come to the determination of making an extraordinary and novel military movement by which he captured Vicksburg, and which movement was evidently entirely one of his own invention, and greatly adds to the military genius of the man. The people have not (probably because of General Grant's native modesty) been heretofore willing to give him credit for originality of mind, or for that military genius (which is the highest form of mental power) and which conceives as well as executes. In fact, I have heard officers and soldiers assert that to General Sherman alone was due the credit of planning the entire campaign, which resulted in the capture of Vicksburg, when the truth is, that campaign was the conception of General Grant himself. And more than this, the most brilliant movement of it was undertaken contrary to the advice of General Sherman, and in the teeth of his written protest. To General Grant, then, must be accorded the praise of having, by his indomitable pluck, self reliance and dogged obstinacy (the latter trait rising to heroism in the case) carried this great movement to a successful termination, in spite of the opposition of General Sherman, in whose judgment and military talent he reposed such confidence.

The account of the manner by which General Grant was led to make the great movement which resulted in the capture of Vicksburg, is as follows: On the 1st of April, 1863, Generals Grant, Sherman, Oglesby, Secretary of State O. M. Hatch, of this State, Auditor Jesse K. Dubois, United States Marshal D. L. Phillips, Congressman Mitchell, of the Fort Wayne district, Indiana, Commodore Porter, and various other naval officers were on board the flagship of Commodore Porter's squadron (the Black Hawk, I think). They had been up the Yazoo river to Hains' Bluff on a reconnoissance of the fortifications, and were returning. The party was seated in the cabin of the flagship, and an animated discussion was going forward between General Sherman, Jesse K. Dubois and D. L. Phillips, all good talkers, and loving to talk, too. The topic was the question of slavery, the effect of the war upon it, etc. General Sherman contended that slavery had nothing to do with the war, and should not be made to enter into it, that the Southerners were high toned gentlemen, that he had no objection to slavery per se; that the war would last fifteen years and that the South could only be made to succumb after they had been virtually all but exterminated; also, that it was a war between the Puritans and Cavaliers. Dubois and Phillips, especially the former, stoutly combatted these ideas. Dubois contended that slavery was the cause of the war, and that it must be removed before a permanent peace could be secured; also that, as regarded the duration of it, if those in charge of it would only do their duty it could be closed up in a short time; that the people of the North had given them men and money in almost unlimited numbers and amounts, and that the result was in their hands, with every appliance to a successful termination. Phillips then took up the conversation with General Sherman on the subject of slavery, and General Grant, who had remained a silent listener during the other discussion, with the inevitable cigar between his lips, withdrew from the cabin to the deck, and Dubois followed him. The General had not beckoned the auditor from the room, but both appeared to be drawn together by one of those mental attractions for which there is no accounting. Upon the deck a conversation ensued between the two, the substance of which is as follows:

General Grant—Uncle Jesse, to tell you the truth, I have come to my wit's end as regards the capture of Vicksburg. I do not really know what next move to make. I have tried everything I could think of, and here we are yet. I have been advised that we go back to Memphis and commence an overland march from that point.

Dubois—General Grant, you cannot do that. If you take this army back to Memphis, with all this array of gunboats and transports, and your material of war, the effect will be disastrous on the country. This infernal Constitution in our State was only defeated by superhuman exertions. Another election is almost upon us, and the whole Northwest is on the verge of revolution. If you go back you strengthen the hands of the traitors, and [illegible] at home. They will call your movement a retreat, and more loudly than ever assert that the South cannot be conquered. If you can do no better, you must storm Vicksburg. If it costs the lives of forty thousand men it must be taken. It is a terrible thing to think of, but it must be done.

General Grant replied that he would reflect upon the matter during the night, and let Dubois know of his determination in the morning. When the morning came General Grant met Dubois with a cheerful countenance, and the following conversation took place:

General Grant—Uncle Jesse, you are going home to-day; tell Governor Yates and the people of Illinois for me that I will take Vicksburg in sixty days.

Dubois—General Grant, I am glad to hear you say this; but all I ask you to allow me to tell them is that you will take Vicksburg. I don't care whether in sixty days or in six months.

General Grant—I am bound to take it. I have decided on my plans. I will not tell you what they are. Even with the best intentions, you might disclose them to the detriment of the movement.

They then parted, and General Grant detailed his plan to General Sherman, who protested in writing, as detailed in the article, but placed himself under the General's orders.

Auditor Dubois went home and told Governor Yates that Grant would take Vicksburg; that he had no doubt of it; that General Grant told him so, and that he must tell it to the people as coming from General Grant. It will be remembered that the promise of General Grant was published in the papers at that time, and that Governor Yates repeated it to the army.

General Grant's next move was to send for General John A. McClernand, and ordered him to march his troops from Milliken's Bend to Grand Gulf. General McClernand proposed to [illegible] in the details of the plan, but General Grant cut him short by saying that he had digested and arranged the entire details for the movement, and only required him (General McClernand) to execute his order. General McClernand then said he would do this to the best of his ability, and departed on his expedition.

And here it may be well to add that at the same time strenuous efforts were being made at Washington for the removal of General Grant. Not only West Point was arrayed against him, but Republican members of Congress, some of them from this State, went to Lincoln and urged his removal, taking back their former endorsements of him. Leading Republican papers in this State also loudly denounced him, and clamored for his supersedure. At this time a leading Republican and retired office holder from this State, who had been down the river buying cotton, wrote a letter to Lincoln denouncing General Grant, predicting his failure, and urging the appointment of General Pope to his command. He brought the letter to O. M. Hatch, then Secretary of State and one of Lincoln's most intimate friends, and asked him to direct it, but did not show him its contents. He represented to Hatch that N. [illegible], who had been Hatch's deputy clerk, seeing the handwriting, would hand it to Lincoln. Hearing of the occurrence and suspecting a trick, Dubois made Hatch write a letter to the President, which both signed, and which urged him to do nothing against General Grant; that they had been down the river, and so far as they had anything to say in the matter, they were perfectly satisfied with him.

HIT AT STAY AT HOME REBELS.—The New Orleans Times publishes a note from one of Dick Taylor's men, in which he says: "Will you please tell a returned paroled Confederate soldier why it is that all the bitterness remaining in the country after our late glorious but unsuccessful war is confined to the ladies and the stay at home gentlemen? We fought certainly, not for independence, but for an idea, and that idea, I am satisfied now, was a foolish one. The idea was that the 'Yankees' were all Abolitionists, and that they wished to deprive us of our rights as slave holders. Time and intercourse with these same Yankees have convinced me of the error of that idea. The war is now over, but our ears are hourly saluted by abuse of those Yankees and the Government, on whose goodness and charity thousands are now living. If these sympathizing ladies and patriotic stay-at-home gentlemen wish another war, let them do the fighting and endure the hardships. We had nothing to fight for before but a false idea; now we have not even that excuse."

GALE SENT TO ALABAMA FOR TRIAL.—G. W. Gale, who in last December advertised in the Selma (Ala.) Dispatch for one million dollars to procure the assassination of President Lincoln, William H. Seward and Andrew Johnson, was taken from the old Capitol prison June 29th and sent back to Alabama for trial.

It has been discovered that Shakspeare received but £5 for "Hamlet." The best five act plays in his time brought a little over £6 to their authors. Bourcicault made over £50,000 from his "Colleen Bawn."

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS.

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once braced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect; he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT AND MUCOUS OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

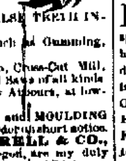
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Cambr. Place, Pad.; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary; Charring Cross, Agar street, Strand; London, Whitechapel road, Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Disease.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies; see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use. Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.
